Lansing – The Michigan Association of Conservation Districts has honored state Sen. Michelle A. McManus (R-Lake Leelanau) with their President's Award.

"This award is very special to me," McManus said. "It is particularly meaningful coming from a group representing the stewards of our state's natural resources."

McManus was honored for her work promoting conservation and natural resource programs. The award was presented at a banquet on Dec. 11 in Grand Rapids.

"We appreciate the effort Senator McManus has put in to restore funding for forestry at the Michigan Association of Conservation Districts," said Marilyn Shy, Executive Director of MACD. "Her hard work and dedication have allowed us the tools to keep Michigan residents informed on the importance of conservation."
